Course Description:

Examines human use of forest resources in America from pre-Colombian times to the present.
Exploration of factors that impact the use of wood products.

General Education Foundation (GEF):

Wood Science 100 counts under GEF requirement F5. Human Inquiry & the Past – Students will interpret historical events or philosophical perspectives to identify patterns, develop analytical reasoning, apply methods of critical inquiry or expand problem-solving skills.

Course Objectives

The course is intended to develop understanding about the use of forest resources and the factors affecting decisions impacting that use. An historical approach will be employed to illustrate how various scientific, technological, and supply issues affect resource use.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Explain the critically important role forests and forest products played in the history and development of the nation. (GEF F5)
2. Describe of the breadth of the history of the use and abuse of forest resources in the U.S. from pre-Columbian to modern times. They will also prove critical thinking skills by analyzing how policymakers and ordinary citizens have distinguished between the two during different eras in American history. (GEF F5)
3. Assess how societal attitudes toward forest resources have changed over time and how human attitudes and values have led to development of the American conservation movement; growth of the conservation professions (forestry, wildlife management, and wood science); and implementation of government policy to both protect forests and promote use of forest products. (GEF F5)
4. Demonstrate reasonable knowledge of how anatomical, chemical, physical, and mechanical properties of various woods native to North America have influenced the wide variety of products that have come from wood. (GEF F5)
5. Compare how demand and use of wood-based products has changed over time from a regional to a global perspective and the impact of that use on society and the environment. (GEF F5)
6. Summarize the principal applications of wood and wood-based materials including the important positive and negative attributes of the use of those products and those of alternative materials. (GEF F5)
7. Recognize the major policy, regulation, environmental and other societal issues that impact the manufacturing and use of wood-based products. (GEF F5)
8. Distinguish sound from unsound decisions concerning their personal use of resources and land based upon critical environmental, economic, and societal criteria. (GEF F5)

Course Grading

Point Allotment		Course Grade
Exam 1	150	A	100 - 90%
Exam 2	150	B	89 - 80%
Exam 3	150	C	79 - 70%
Exam 4 (Final, comprehensive)	300	D	69 - 60%
Assignment (6, 25 pts each)	150	F	less than 60%
Discussions (4, 25 pts each)	100
Total	1,000

“Incompletes” will not be given for the course. The above items are requirements to be met by the end of the semester.

Grading Policy:

Grading will be in accordance with the procedures outlined in the current University Catalog. A student believing that a mistake has been made in grading has 3 days following return of the examination or assignment to notify me. If we agree that an error has been made, the grade will be corrected; if not we will explain the reasons to the student. Grades are non- negotiable except in cases of instructor error. All late work will receive a 10% deduction in point value for each 24-hour period it is late (including weekend, holidays and days WVU is not open).

Exams:

Exams will be delivered via eCampus. To utilize eCampus go to <http://ecampus.wvu.edu> and log in to the WVU Main Campus with your MIX ID and password. You will find the exams under the Exams tool.

Be aware that Exams 1-3 will be open for several days early and they will be due on specific Days. Exam 4 (finals day) is comprehensive and MUST be completed by the Final Day. You can only take each exam once.

Assignments:

Homework assignments will be accessed in eCampus. Students will need to complete the work and submit their original and individual work in eCampus. Each assignment is worth 25 points.

Course Conduct:

We do not permit solicitation for businesses, distribution of political material, circulation of petitions, political organizing, or announcements of political organization meetings in my courses. (Refer to the Student Organizations Services list of such organizations under “political, environmental and special concerns.”)
